Can a single sink be utilized or is the need a double sink? -Mom's Meals - Refrigerated meals: Will a freezer be needed or just a refrigerator? How big should the refrigerator be? If these meals can be heated in a	Since all questions contain a similar general question about kitchen equipment sizing, all questions listed will be provided with a general response. Kitchen equipment and required sizing are not specifically listed as requirements that are located with the Department of Elder Affairs Program and Services Handbook Chapter 5 Nutritional Requirements. Under Chapter 5, Section VII. B Food Preparation and Safety Standards, all meals provided through Older Americans Act programs must "adhere to the state and local fire, health, and sanitization, and safety regulations applicable to the type of food preparations…" . All food storage and operational equipment will need to meet current federal, state, and local food codes. Specifics for measurements or requirement needs will need to reference from those resources such as Chapter 64E – 11 of the Florida Administrative Code.	Department of Elder Affairs Program and Services Handbook Chapter 5 Nutritional Requirements Chapter 64E – 11 of the Florida Administrative Code
